Noted Calgary Divine Will Speak to Gathering at Knox Church Following
Armistice Supper

Sunday and Monday next, November 10 and 11, Knox United Church celebrates its annual event Armistice and Thanksgiving, which this year coincide in that they fall on the same day, November 11. There will be special Thanksgiving services at the church Sunday evening and the usual Armistice chicken dinner will be served in the church basement from 5 to 8 by the Ladies Aid on Monday evening.

Following the supper on Monday evening, a program will be given of music, instrumental and vocal, also a number of short, bright speeches. Rev. A. E. Hayes has been fortunate in securing for the evening Dr. G. W. Kerby, principal of Mount Royal College, Calgary, who will deliver a special Armistice address, entitled "Canada and Canadianism."

Dr. Kerby is well known particularly to Westerners as well as other parts of the Dominion as an outstanding authority in educational matters. He was Canada's delegate to the recent World Educational Federation Council which convened at Geneva, Switzerland.

Admission to both supper and program: Adults 75 cents. Child ren 50 cents. For those who cannot take in the supper, the evening tickets are 25 cents.

Mr. Carl Gebert is again on the staff at J. V. Berscht's.

Baltimore Motorist Boosts A.M.A. Service

Lavish praise on services given by the Alberta Motor Association to American tourists was recently bestowed by Frank Bell, hailing from Baltimore, Maryland. When he returns home, after his 6,000 mile trip, he intends to give full publicity to the wonderful services of the A.M.A.

Mr. Bell decided last summer to make the trip to attend the Calgary Stampede. He made enquiries at his own motor club and was told that the roads were about impassable. Then he decided to wire the A.M.A. branch in Calgary and was told that he could be routed through in less than half the time he had been told at home. Back came Mr. Bell for a request for road information covering the entire route and necessary hotel accommodation.

Everything was arranged and carried out with the result that Mr. Bell arrived in Calgary three hours ahead of schedule and time of reservations made at the Palliser hotel. He took in the stampede with his family and then left on a further trip into the mountains after receiving full information.

"When I get back home, I will certainly tell the people all about how easy it is to travel in Canada, and the friendliness of the Canadian people," said Mr. Bell. "I was also greatly aided by the accurate information from your auto clubs. I intend to send a large number of motorists to Alberta next year to see the wonderful scenery and the sights we have seen on this very enjoyable holiday trip."

Misses V. Sexsmith, V. Dawson, and Messrs. W. Sutherland and R. Ford of the public school teaching staff are attending the teachers' convention at Okla. today and tomorrow.

Ramsay MacDonald Goes Home With V.C.'s

Completing his hurried Peace mission to the United States, the Rt. Hon. J. Ramsay MacDonald, Prime Minister of Great Britain, sailed from Quebec Friday, October 25th, on the Canadian Pacific liner Duchess of York which made a special call at the Ancient Capital.

He is shown above on the gangway surrounded by a group of Canadian V.C.'s, who sailed on the same ship as guests of the Canadian Pacific to attend the banquet to be given November 9th, by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, to wearers of the coveted decoration.

Although the ship sailed at 7:45 p.m., the embarkation was made in bright artificial daylight created by a powerful "sun arc" which enabled movietone operators to make sound pictures of the Premier's farewell. V.C.'s in the picture are Captain G. B. Geary and Captain G. F. Kerr, of Toronto; Major T. W. MacDowell, of London; Lt. Col. G. R. Pearkes, of Winnipeg; Captain B. S. Hutcheson; and Captain C. N. Mitchell. Inset is Captain R. N. Stuart, skipper of the Duchess of York, who will also attend the Prince's banquet.

THE SELLERS OF SEALS

This month there has come into the head office of the Red Cross Society in Edmonton the annual shipment of Christmas Seals to be sold for the benefit of the little crippled children in hospital under the Junior Red Cross in Calgary and Edmonton.

It is a stupendous task getting rid of such a large quantity and would be well nigh impossible were it not for the splendid band of eager young salesmen and salesladies who make it their especial pride and privilege to merchandise these attractive stamps.

When every Red Cross Junior member begins business as a seller of seals he puts himself in touch with a great united effort that extends from coast to coast in every province of Canada where there are Juniors working to keep their pledge of service to the sick.

Alberta Juniors have long been famous for their remarkable efforts at Christmas time or rather earlier than that, for it is necessary that seals be sold for parcels and letters that are going on their errands of goodwill across the seas to the Netherlands or to other parts of the world. It is an easy matter for the reader to decide that insofar as he is able (and surely all can do this seal's courtesy) he will patronize the little merchants who are earnestly trying to dispose of packages of seals.

A little imagination helps the purchaser in the pleasant thought that his seal money, though small in itself, is part of a great and worthy effort made by the children of the province to assist those who are so unfortunately as to be patients in hospital, and who thanks to Junior Red Cross, are getting the chance they need to be made well and whole.

WHEAT: WHAT IS IT?

"Wheat is a seed that is planted and grown to keep the producer broke and the buyer crazy."

"Its quality varies according to the amount of rain or frost experienced during the growing season. A man who can guess nearest to this quality is called a 'wheat grader' by the public and 'fool' by the farmer."

"The price of wheat is determined at primary markets and goes up when you have sold and down when you have bought."

"A buyer, working for a group of millers, was sent to Winnipeg to watch the wheat market. After a few days' deliberation he wired his interests to this effect: 'Some think it will come down and some think it will go up. I do too. Whatever you do will be wrong. Act at once.'"

Speakman At U.F.A. Meets

Interest in what Alfred Speakman, M.P., Red Deer, had to say in regard to the last session of the Federal house at Ottawa found better crowds and better listeners in the rural districts than in Didsbury proper, last week. The business men of the town were not in evidence at the latter meeting held under the auspices of the local U.F.A. in the Opera House, Thursday evening last.

Mr. Speakman was accompanied by Mrs. Deplaine, Elmore, federal U.F.A. president and Mr. R. Lye, U.F.A. organizer, on his route which took in gatherings at Westcott, Zella, Eggleston and Didsbury. Mr. Lye organized another U.F.A. local at Zella.

Commander MacMillan After Investigation Believes Polar Ice Cap Is Growing Smaller

Discovery of the ice cap "meta incognita," which now covers an area of 700 square miles, with a maximum depth of 3,000 feet, between Frobisher's Bay and Hudson Strait, long sought by scientists, was recounted by Lieut. Commander Donald B. MacMillan, on his return from a summer's Arctic trip, on the schooner "Bowdoin. It was estimated to have at one time extended over 4,000,000 square miles.

MacMillan said that this was believed to be the last of the ice caps of the Pleistocene period, which covered all of New England, except the tip of what is now Mount Washington, to a depth of 5,000 feet, over a period of 35,000 years. He said the ice cap actually consisted of two caps, one of approximately 400 square miles, and the other of 300 square miles. Four glaciers were discharging from it into the bay, all flowing north.

The ice cap is "receding," according to MacMillan, thus settling a question (as far as MacMillan is concerned), long in the minds of scientists, who have been anxious to know whether it was receding or advancing. Photographs of the ice cap were made by the expedition for comparison with other photographs to be made on next summer's expedition to definitely establish that the ice cap is growing smaller.

Next year, the party will "stake" out with rock cairns, the outermost edge of the ice cap, so that scientists in future years can determine with accuracy the rate of recession or advancement.

MacMillan reported that there was no serious accident on the trip, which started from Wiscasset in June, and that the ten members of the expedition remained in good health. The only accident occurred off Cape St. George, Newfoundland, on the return trip, when Kenneth Rawson, son of Frederick H. Rawson, Chicago banker, and Frank Henderson, were both thrown into the surf. A small dory capsized as they were going ashore for supplies.

The party erected a portable school house at Nain, in Northern Labrador, for the use of the Moravian missionary, the Rev. Paul Hettasch, on the agreement that his daughter, who is to be the teacher, will instruct the Eskimo children in English. Next year, an American girl will be taken north to assist her.

Dr. Reginald Fernald, of the Harvard dental school, installed sets of teeth for a number of the Eskimos, to replace some of the 1,000 removed last year by dentists. He also made a comparison of the teeth of primitive Eskimos, and those who have been affected by contact with civilization.

Dr. Fernald found the primitive Eskimos' teeth showed no decay and had thick enamel, though they took no care of them. They ate practically all frozen meat. The condition of the teeth of the Eskimos farther south, whose association with civilized people caused them to eat canned meats, bread and other foods previously unknown to their race, was found not so good.

The reporter came idly into the office. "Well," said the editor, "what did our eminent statesman have to say?"

"Nothing."

"Well, keep it down to a column."

"He told me he loved me."
"And what did you say?"
"That I loved pearls, diamonds and furs."—Karikaturen, Oslo.

Showing Respect For Colors

People In Canada Appear Lax In This Respect

The other day the Border Cities Star commented editorially on the fact that few men bared their heads when a regiment swung by on Windsor streets headed by the King's colors, commonly known as the Union Jack. It pointed out that this was disrespect to the flag and to the King. Just a day or so before the Stratford Beacon-Herald suggested that people in passing war memorials should salute in some way or other, pointing out that it is done as a matter of course in England. Few people do it in Canada and the number who do it seems to get smaller year by year, but both editors are absolutely right in their contention.—Lindsay Post.

Buy Canadian Wood Pulp

Japan Is One Of Dominion's Best Customers

Canada profits from the fact that the standard of literacy is extremely high in Japan, one important result of which is that a vast number of newspapers, magazines and books are published, which altogether have a truly enormous circulation. This in turn demands a huge quantity of wood pulp, from which to manufacture the paper, and of this Canada is one of the chief sources of supply.

A price war has been in progress for some time between the Canadian pulp companies and Japanese manufacturers of the same commodity, who secure their raw material from the forests of the northern islands of Saghalin and Hokkaido.

It is now reported that an agreement is about to be reached between two groups by which the Japan pulp mills will recognize a certain maximum quantity of Canadian pulp being imported, in return for which the Canadian industry will agree to a scale of minimum prices.

The Canadian mills have been supplying large quantities of pulp to Japan at prices which the Japanese producers declare have caused them a great deal of discomfort. This would be intensified when Japan returns to the gold standard which is now expected to take place in the not distant future.

The Japanese mills have put forth strong arguments before the government commission which is now sitting to formulate a thorough revision of the tariff, in order to bring about an increased tariff on wood pulp.

If this were successful, it would place a serious check on Canada's expanding trade with Japan and the combination of circumstances has led to the truce that seems about to be concluded.

May Try Grafting

Crossing With Northern Species Might Improve Berry Fruits

Varieties of raspberries and gooseberries may be improved by grafting with species from Manitoba's north country, as result of a scientific expedition to Hudson Bay. Knowles Ryerson, of the Bureau of Foreign Plant Introduction at Washington, D.C., and a number of other scientists spent a month in this country between The Pas and Churchill, bay port.

Abundance of raspberries and large gooseberries of the smooth variety were found along the Churchill River. Plant improvement through the crossing of hardier varieties of plants with those already developed was the purpose of the expedition.

"Do you keep powder here?" asked the city young lady at the village stores.

"Yes, madam," said the shopkeeper, "Washing, baking, custard, plate, face, tooth, insect and gun!"

Aluminium chloride is now successfully used in making gasoline from high-boiling petroleum oils.

Novel Culinary Creation

C. Anderegg, head chef, and O. Westerlund, pastry chef, of the Chateau Lake Louise in the Canadian Rockies, with the model made entirely of sugar of the "Countess of Dufferin," first locomotive in the Canadian West, which was prepared as a centerpiece for the visit of E. W. Beatty, chairman and president, and other directors and officials of the Canadian Pacific Railway, on their recent tour of inspection in the west. Candied roses are in the tender and candy-floss issue from the smoke-stack. The "Countess," arrived in Winnipeg in 1877, up the Red River on a barge, and is now exhibited as a historic relic in a park in Winnipeg. She appears as a dwarf beside the new 100 foot oil burning giants of the "5900" class, the greatest in the British Empire, used by the Canadian Pacific on the main line in the Rockies and Selkirk.

Canadian Potatoes To Argentine

Demand From Southern Hemisphere For Canadian Tubers Both For Seed and Table Use

Orders for Canadian certified seed potatoes have been placed by growers in Argentine with the Canadian Trade Commissioner in Buenos Aires. These orders have been passed on to the Canadian Federal Department of Agriculture and through the Markets Extension Division of the Fruit Branch arrangements for placing shippers in Canada in touch with the buyers in Argentine will be made. In the meantime negotiations are being carried on with Argentine importers concerning shipments of Canadian-grown potatoes for table use. There is a probability of certified seed potatoes being shipped this year from Eastern and Western Canada to South Africa and the Netherland East Indies. It would seem that Canadian potatoes may ultimately become almost as popular throughout the world as Canadian wheat, which last year was exported to 47 countries.

Co-Operation In Saskatchewan

Two Hundred and Eighty-Five Co-Operative Societies Registered In The Province

There are 285 local co-operative associations registered in the province of Saskatchewan, practically all of which are engaged very largely in buying farm supplies. Two hundred and sixteen of the associations report 13,819 shareholders with a total paid up capital of $569,829 and total assets of $1,638,139 as at April 30, 1929. Supplies were handled in the year under review to the value of $3,621,256. Eleven of the associations handled 167½ cars of livestock valued at $240,767. Total sales for the 216 associations were $3,879,773 and net earnings were $135,963.

In addition to the local associations, there are several province-wide co-operative associations for marketing grain, livestock and poultry and poultry products. These organizations had sales of $176,640,000 during the 1928-29 season.

Not Always Fatal

A wound in the heart is usually but not always fatal. The hospital records for the war reveal many interesting cases in which soldiers lived with bullets in their hearts. One soldier lived two months with a bullet in the interior of his heart. Many others lived after bullets had come in contact with the heart and injured it.

Small Boy: "What is college bred, Pop?"

Pop (with son in college): "They make college bred, my boy, with the flour of youth and the dough of old age."

The difficulties of world naval reduction are yet to come. For the moment we may rejoice that at any rate the very real danger of a race in naval armaments is over. How great that danger was is not always recognized. If history were really "determined," if the gloomy theory that men were bound by forces outside their control always to repeat their mistakes was anything but a gloomy fallacy, Great Britain and the United States would now have entered upon that period of rivalry which century by century has culminated in war between the two stronger political and economic Powers.

To those who remembered the history of Anglo-German relationships during the twenty years which preceded the last war nothing was so ominous as the repetition of the phrase that war between Great Britain and the United States was "unthinkable." War between us and "our German cousins" was for years pronounced "unthinkable," until, with equal gibbness, men began to term it "inevitable." We were perhaps again on the edge of that slope.

We have been saved from taking the first dangerous steps. Powerful economic forces which have sufficed to turn other countries into the paths of an aggressive imperialism were at work also in the United States. But the Big Navy party suffered last year a defeat from which happily it should now never recover.

The outstanding problem which still makes for ill-will between the British Commonwealth of Nations and the United States is the doctrine of the freedom of the seas—an ironical name for an out-of-date theory which Great Britain was able to impose on other nations when Britannia still ruled the waves alone. When that cause of ill-will is gone we may feel that the English-speaking people have turned their backs upon the slope that leads to war and are on the high ground beyond which is peace. Hard Wheat From Irrigation

High Yields Of No. 1 Quality Secured This Year On Alberta Irrigated Lands

The accepted theory that hard wheat cannot be produced from irrigated lands must be discarded. Wheat being marketed this year from irrigated areas in Southern Alberta is grading No. 1 in quality and running high in yield. One field of 140 acres yielded 6,160 bushels of No. 1 Marquis wheat, an average of 44 bushels to the acre. Another irrigation farmer threshed 14,000 bushels from 400 acres.

Irrigation is extensively employed in some parts of Southern Alberta, where light rainfall is supplemented by water from the streams which come down from the mountains. The irrigated areas produce large quantities of alfalfa, sugar beets, corn, sunflowers, and general fodder, and cereal crops.

"Sarah," called the mistress from upstairs, "I hope you turned the gas on in the drawing-room, as I told you."

"Yes, ma'am," answered the new servant; "can't you smell it?"

"Another new dress! Where am I to find the money for it?"

"I didn't marry you to give you advice on financial matters." — Musket, Vienna.

EYES TOO IMPORTANT TO BE TRIFLED WITHThe three hundredth anniversary of the introduction of the spectacle or eyeglass was recently observed. The following article appearing in the Jackson Tribune, Jackson, Mich., and reprinted by the Calgary Albertan, is appropriate at this time. In part it reads:"To measure the amount of error in the refraction of the human eye requires the services of one skilled in such work; and this service cannot be rendered by mail, telephone or in any way save by the personal examination of the patient by one skilled in the profession. Not only do these fraudulent advertisers fail to relieve eye troubles, their victims almost without exception suffer actual injury, for the spectacles sold are but a fair grade of magnifying glasses, which make print look larger; and, if so convinced that a benefit has been received, consultation with a competent optometrist may be deferred until real relief becomes a difficult and costly matter."Grinding a pair of lenses to meet the needs of a pair of eyes is an intricate and exacting process; and the advertiser who offers to perform this feat without even examining the eyes to be fitted, and at a price often less than the actual labor cost of the work, is so manifestly a swindler that it is strange indeed that reputable advertising mediums accept their business, that a government-owned post office department permits them to use the mails, and, strangest of all, that ordinarily intelligent men and women answer the advertising and patronize the advertiser."THE PUBLIC HAS A SHORT

They ceased to advertise.Eight years later, in 1915, the whole

$12,000. The public has a short told by a member of the advertising department of one of the largest soap manufacturers that, according to their surveys, a manufacturer of a new brand of toilet soap today could not attain national distribution and consumption of his product for less than vertising Lucky Strike cigarettes.For advertising this single commod-amount daily newspapers are receiv-

Thanksgiving Day

Advance Opinion That Day Of Thanksgiving Should Be Fixed For October

That is a good suggestion that comes from the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, that Thanksgiving Day should be fixed for some time in October. Before Armistice Day came along with such a whirlwind of thanksgiving that people thought it should be continued for all time. Thanksgiving Day was held in October. Then, with the harvest safely housed, people gave thanks in weather that made everybody thankful that he was alive.

Now thankfulness for the end of the war has mellowed into memories of the heroic dead—memories that do not fit in with the joyousness that characterizes the regulation Canadian Thanksgiving of feasting and sport. Armistice is a day apart. It lends itself to solemnity, mingled with sorrow. Let it have early November all to itself. Put Thanksgiving Day back where it belongs. — Toronto Telegram.

A STOMACH RESTORER

Good Advice From One Who Had Suffered Much

Discomfort after eating, gas pains in the intestinal tract, pains around the heart, sour risings in the throat called heartburn, are common symptoms of dyspepsia. It is a condition often neglected until it has done permanent harm, yet the treatment is simple. The great contributing cause to this trouble is thin blood. Good blood and plenty of it is required by the stomach to function properly. If the blood is thin the stomach becomes sluggish, food lies undigested, gas forms causing pains, often around the heart. Instead of getting nourishment from the blood the system gets poison. The proper treatment is to enrich the blood, and there is no other medicine can do this as promptly or as effectively as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The sole mission of these pills is to make new, rich, red blood, which reaches every organ and nerve in the body, and thus not only banishes indigestion and dyspepsia, but also all other troubles having their origin in weak, watery blood.

The splendid results following the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is shown by the case of Mrs. Lucy A. Cushing, a former resident of Kempt, N.S., but now living with her son at West Bethel, Me. Mrs. Cushing says: "I have no hesitation in strongly recommending Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. For years I was a great sufferer from indigestion. Always after eating I suffered from pains in my stomach and other distressing symptoms that accompany this ailment. I tried different doctors while residing at my old home and also at West Bethel, but without getting relief. I was advised by a friend to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I did so and I must say that I am feeling very grateful ever since to the good friend who gave me the advice. I soon found the pills helping me and by the time I had taken nine or ten boxes I was completely restored to good health. Though I am now in my 76th year I am feeling as well and smart as I did at 35, and am enjoying life once more."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Mrs. S. J. Jago, Canobie, N.B., writes:—"My little boy, when three years old, had a severe attack of diarrhoea. The bowels were so active, and he vomited so much, I feared for his life. I tried many medicines, but he was always getting worse. A friend told me of

Scientists Declare Eiffel Tower Wobbles

Experts Discover Gigantic Structure In Paris Twists With the Sun

Probably none of the 13,268,936 people, including many Americans, who have mounted the Eiffel Tower since it was opened to the public in 1889, were aware that the giant structure wobbled beneath them, twisting and turning like a thing of life.

The tower is heliotropic. In the warmer weather it suffers more from this structural malady than in the cold winter months, but all the year round it moves continuously.

In oppressive weather, the tower moves with the sun. During 24 hours in the hottest time of the year the twist as the summit makes its eclipse from east to west amounts to 17 centimeters, roughly the width of three average size newspaper columns.

Since the tower rears its head 1,000 feet in the air it may be understood why passers-by and even conscientious sightseers who mount to the top to look down on Paris are unaware of the wobble. As a matter of fact, scientists themselves have just discovered it.

For years a story has been generally believed by Parisians that the Eiffel Tower daily adds something to its height, because of the atmosphere, but this is denied by M. Lherault, one of the tower officials.

"That yarn was probably invented by newspapermen," he declares. "The tower is fixed firmly in the earth on foundations from none to 15 meters deep. Measurements made by scientists at the top of its 300-meters shaft have detected a torsion in hot weather; only the metal on the sunniest side being affected; with the result that the structure at the top (but not below the second landing), bends outwards an infinitely small degree every day. The eclipse develops to its longest point at the hottest hour. As the day cools the twist vanishes."

The attraction which the tower still exercises for visitors is as strong as ever. In the tourist season the crowd who wait their turn to be whizzed up to its dizzy heights number thousands, mainly Americans. But the record for visitors set up in the year of the tower's opening, 1889, has never been equalled and probably never will.

In the 12 months of that year 1,968,234 panted their way up the endless stairs to the top.

An Oil Of Merit.—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is not a jumble of medicinal substances thrown together and pushed by advertising, but the result of the careful investigation of the healing qualities of certain oils as applied to the human body. Black Strip Frees Boat Employment of the principle that black absorbs the sun's rays and holds the heat enabled the captain of an ice-bound steamer in a lake in Alaska to extricate his ship. He had a strip of refuse oil and lampblack, 40 feet wide, swabbed across the frozen lake lake. In a short time the strip softened sufficiently to allow the steamer to break through.

He Asked Them Does It Pay To Clip Cows?

A CERTAIN farmer wanted the facts about clipping cows so he wrote us for names of those owning clipping machines. He wrote them. Now he himself is so pleased with the Stewart clipping machine he sent us the letters which made him decide the clipping machine is a good investment. Here are some of them:

"If short of help clipping reduces time necessary to keep cows clean—and must say since using the machine have not had any trouble with lice."

"Before we clipped our cows we had a high bacteria count, whereas after we clipped them we had a very low bacteria count thus improving the quality of our milk."

"And it certainly is a wonderful help in reducing lice."

"We find it much easier to keep them clean and free from vermin when clipped. To have clean milk you must have clean cows. We raise quite a number of heifers every year and in that way we always have a number of cows to sell. The clipping so improves the appearance of the cows that I think it easily adds 5 or 10 dollars to the value of an animal."

HOW TO CLIP COWS
 Manure, the principal source of bacteria, cannot collect and at milking time rub off into the pail if hair on udders, underline, flanks and tail is kept clipped short all winter.

Lice seem to congregate along the spine, which explains why some farmers clip a six-inch width from tail to ears.

Farmers who have warm stables and drinking water inside, usually clip their cows all over in the fall.

Buy a clipping machine and make more money from your cows—with less work.

Stewart No. 1 Clipping Machine is easy to use and anyone can clip with it. Strong, sturdy, easy-running and will last for years. At your dealer, $15.00.

Satisfaction or money refunded.

The Singing Fool

By HUBERT DAIL

Copyright, 1923, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS

Al Stone, singing waiter at Blackie Joe's New York night club, wins fame as a composer of popular songs. He marries Molly Winton, a ballad singer and makes her famous, too. Molly and Al have a baby, Junior, whom Al adores. When Junior is about two years old Molly becomes romantically interested in John Perry, Al's best friend. On New Year's Eve Al rushes home from the Club Bombo, where he is part owner and master of ceremonies, to find that Molly has eloped with Perry, taking Junior. Al is staggered by the cruel blow. Next morning he visits Marcus, producer of the revue in which Molly appeared, in search of information.

CHAPTER XVIII

Marcus handed Al a tiny marked paragraph from the theatrical column of a morning paper. It read: "Miss Molly Winton, headliner in The Merry-Go-Rounders, the most popular Marcus review of the season, has left the cast temporarily for a much-needed rest. Her place will be taken by her understudy, Suzanne Eastman."

"Temporarily?" exclaimed Al.

"Well, we just phrased it that way in case she should happen to come back. What's the meaning of all this, Al?"

Al stared hard at Marcus. Should he tell Marcus the truth, or should he cover up? It was apparent that Marcus knew nothing of Molly's whereabouts—and that was what Al had come to find out.

"Nothing," answered the young song-writer. "It's just as she says—she's tired out."

Marcus leaned back in his chair, studying Al's face carefully.

"Boy, you're holding back on this. I can tell from your expression that she's done something to you too. Has she—has she ditched you?"

"I didn't say that."

"I know you didn't, but—your eyes say it. You look as if you hadn't slept for six months."

Al felt himself sagging, but he suddenly stiffened and exclaimed vehemently:

"Listen, Marcus, don't give me away on this. It would make scandal and I don't want publicity. I want to work it out my own way. But—Molly has left me."

"Phew! I'll be mum—but when, why?"

"Last night—with John Perry. Left a note. She took Junior."

Marcus's face softened in sympathy for this stricken man. Here stood his best song-writer, the boy he had discovered and made famous, the lines of his face sharply etched by pain. Al seemed to have aged over-night.

The producer jumped up, ran around the table, put his arm about Al's shoulders.

"Don't let it throw you! It's a tough break, but you were bound to get it some day from that girl."

"Yes, I know it—now!" Al answered bitterly. "But did you see it coming?"

The producer nodded. "Do you remember that night down at Blackie Joe's three years ago—you insisted that I bought your song I'd have to give your sweetie, Molly, a good revue job too? I took a long look at Molly—and I decided she was a cheater. . . . Then, when John Perry came along I saw a few things. But I thought it might blow over—there was no use warning you. You loved her too much."

"I loved her too much, that's true," admitted Al. "I trusted her completely, and I trusted John Perry, too. I'd like to get that snake alone just once!"

"Again the feeling of rage returned to Al. Marcus's grip tightened on his shoulder.

"Steady, Al. You don't win this battle that way. Let her go—forget her."

"It's easier to say than to do, Marcus. Besides, she's taken my boy, Junior. That's what hurts most."

"I know, I know," Marcus gently led Al toward a chair. "Here, sit down, pull yourself together. And have a shot of Scotch."

. . . . The days passed like years, until a week was gone. But still there was no trace of Molly and Junior, and no word from them. Somehow, Al managed to live through those terrible days of futile waiting, but he was unable to continue his song-writing, unable to fill his post as master of ceremonies at the Club Bombo.

At the end of the week he came to a sudden decision. He approached Billy Cline, his business partner at the Bombo, for a conference. They sat in the office one afternoon above the ballroom of the Bombo.

"Billy," Al began doggedly, "I can't go on with this. You know why. I can't appear before that crowd downstairs and go through with my wise-cracking routine. So I might as well get out, bag and baggage."

"Sell out, you mean?" questioned his partner.

"Yes, just that. I want you to buy my interest and I'll disappear. I'm through with Broadway—the whole life."

"Don't say that, Al," countered Billy. "You've got a thousand more songs in you—every one a hit."

"No," Al shook his head. "It's the end of all that sort of thing."

His partner hesitated. "Well, Al, of course I'll buy your share in the club, but the place won't be the same without you."

"I s'pose that's true, Bill, but my heart isn't in it. You've got to feel gay to be gay—that is, consistently. I thought I could work through this thing, but I can't, so—it's curtains."

Billy Cline studied Al's face just as Marcus had done, trying to think of some way his friend's problem might be solved. But he ended by making a gesture of acquiescence to Al's proposal. Cline knew in his heart that Al was right about himself—a man can't write songs or carry on in the night club racket unless he can amuse the crowd. And Al's face showed he just couldn't. Cline rose.

"All right, Al. I'll get the books and we'll have an accounting."

As Cline walked away Al picked up a newspaper that an office boy had just left on a nearby chair. He turned it over and—staring at him from the front page was a large photograph of Molly. The words he read beneath that smiling photo horrified him.

Molly's hard eyes in the newspaper reproduction seemed fixed on Al in cynical and cruel triumph. In a two-column box he read:

"Interviewed at her suite at the Biltmore today, prior to sailing on the 'Ile de France,' Molly Winton, celebrated songstress and late star of 'The Merry-Go-Rounders,' confirmed the rumor that she is contemplating a Paris divorce from her husband, Al Stone, song-writer and Broadway's favorite master of ceremonies."

That one sentence was enough; Al dropped the paper and jumped up just as Billy Cline returned with the Club Bombo account books.

"What's the matter, Al?" cried his partner, for Al's face was ashen.

"Read this," Al snatched up the paper. "Molly's sailing today for Europe, taking Junior. It means I may never see my boy again! For all I know, they're on the high seas now!"

Cline scanned the article rapidly, but Al interrupted him.

"Have they sailed yet?" he cried in tones of anguish. "Have they taken Junior away without a word?" Cline turned quickly to the shipping news, while Al stood glancing over his shoulder. Down the column their eyes travelled to the part marked "Sailings-Today." And then—"Ile de France—6 P.M." Cline looked at his watch.

"It's three now, Al. You might be able to stop them."

"You mean legally—the police."

"There's just a chance."

"I won't do that. I have my rea-

Needless Pain!

Some folks take pain for granted.

They let a cold "run its course."

They wait for their headaches to "wear off."

If suffering from neuralgia or from neuritis, they rely on feeling better in the morning.

Meantime, they suffer unnecessary pain. Unnecessary, because there is an antidote. Aspirin tablets always offer immediate relief from various aches and pains we once had to endure. If pain persists, consult your doctor as to its cause.

Save yourself a lot of pain and discomfort through the many proven uses of Aspirin. Aspirin is safe. Always the same. All drug-stores with complete directions.

sons. But I must see Junior before he leaves—you don't know what he means to me, Billy!"

Al grabbed up the 'phone from Cline's desk and put in a call for the Biltmore.

"I'd like to speak to Mrs. Al Stone."

Molly was superintending the packing of her bags when the 'phone rang. Junior was playing in the adjoining room of the suite, and John Perry, who had just arrived, was reclining in an easy chair near Molly, smoking a cigarette, his hat and stick beside him. The maid put down an armful of Molly's clothes and moved toward the 'phone.

Little Helps For This Week

"Give me thine heart."—Proverbs xxxiii. 26.

What can I give Him,
Poor as I am?
If I were a shepherd,
I would bring a lamb;
If I were a wise man,
I would do my part;
Yet what can I give Him?
Give my heart.
—Christina G. Rossetti.

O Lord! take my heart, for I cannot give it; and when Thou hast it, oh, keep it! for I cannot keep it for Thee; and save me in spite of myself, for Jesus Christ's sake.

—Fenelon.

Restless Children

Children will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always one sure way to comfort a restless, fretful child. Castoria! Harmless as the recipe on the wrapper; mild and bland as its tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than some powerful medicine that is meant for the stronger systems of adults.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given the tiniest infant—as often as there is any need. In cases of colic, diarrhea, or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. But it has everyday uses all mothers should understand. A coated tongue calls for a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed to set everything to rights. Genuine Castoria has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Doctors prescribe it.

ONLY A NEWSPAPER GUY

I see a man strut through a jam in a hall,
Take a seat 'mid the speakers and chat with them all.
"Is this Murphy?" I ask, "that a crowd he defies?"
"No," says someone, "he's one of the newspaper guys."
I see a man pushing his way through the lines
Of the cops, where a fire brightly glitters and shines.
"Chief Kenlon?" I ask, but a fireman replies,
"Oh, no, why that's one of those newspaper guys."
I see a man start on the trail of a crook,
And he scorns all assistance and brings him to book.
"Mr. Burns?" I inquire, someone scornfully cries—
"Burns?" Naw, he's just one of them newspaper guys."
I see a man walk through the doors of a show
Where the throngs are blocked by the sign S.R.O.
"Is this Goodwin himself that no ticket he buys?"
"Well hardly, he's one of the newspaper guys."
I see a man knock on a President's door,
And the sign, "No Admittance" completely ignore;
"Is this Morgan, that privacy's right he denies?"
"Morgan? Shucks! It's just one of those newspaper guys."
And some day I'll walk by the great streets of gold
And see a man enter unquestioned and bold.
"A saint?" I'll inquire, and old Peter'll reply,
"Well, I should say not, he's a newspaper guy."
